

Tough Luck, Pard!

Barbara Hayden

Dressed as a cowgirl, 9-year-old Barbara Hayden of Wichita, Kan., ran away from home and hopped a freight train she hoped would carry her to Hollywood and movie fame. But police officers found her in a box car and her trip ended there. She told officers she was from Odessa, Tex., and disclosed she had seen movie cowboys hop freight trains and decided she could travel that way, too.

METALS DRIVE TOPS TON HERE

Citizens Make Generous Response To Plea for Defense

Approximately 2,200 pounds of aluminum were collected yesterday in the city's campaign to round up scrap metal for the national defense.

The city's response in the official pickup day yesterday was gratifying, in the opinion of Robert Phillips, campaign chairman. The collection of pots, pans, kettles, etc., was dumped into a bin on the waterworks pumping station lawn.

Phillips expressed appreciation to the public in general for their assistance in making the campaign a success and to the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts who aided in the round-up.

The scouts, under the able direction of Commissioner Eddie Howell, went from house to house yesterday and placed the scrap aluminum at the curbs for pickup later by service department trucks.

Phillips and Police Chief Ralph Stoffer helped load the metal into the trucks.

Some persons contributed several trucks loaded of aluminum. Others gave only one pan, but all of it combined to fill the city bin. The metal will be sent later to the central gathering point at Youngstown.

In the meantime, persons who have been missed in yesterday's pickup are urged to take their donations to the bin. The city will dispatch a truck to collect large pieces.

NEW INVASION ALARM STRUCK BY CHURCHILL

All British Forces To Be At Top Pitch By September 1

WAR PRODUCTION CRITICISM IS HIT

Campaign Against F. D. R. Policy In U. S., Harmful, Says Premier

LONDON, July 29.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill, warning of the possibility of a German invasion attempt in September, today rejected demands for appointment of a minister of war production and spoke "with considerable regret" of the severance of diplomatic relations with Nazi-associated Finland.

In Britain's Favor

Churchill declared that the battle of the Atlantic, "although far from being won, has partly through American intervention moved impressively in our favor."

Other credits on the British war ledger, he said, were the breaking of German air superiority and the reduced number of Luftwaffe attacks on England.

"But the worst is not over," he added.

"The invasion season is at hand," he said. "All armed forces have been warned to be at concert pitch by Sept. 1 and to maintain the utmost vigilance."

He added that "it is madness to suppose that Russia or the United States is going to win the war for us."

Churchill declared that parliamentary and press demands for a coordinator or minister of production would be ignored, and he deplored careless criticism of British industries for its effect abroad, particularly in the United States and Australia.

Fears Haza In U. S.

"In the United States," he said, "where there is a vigorous campaign against the policy pursued by the President, I fear that harm has been done and it cannot be easily overtaken or healed."

The British foreign office announced that Finland had broken relations with Britain, which 17 months ago was shipping her cash and war materials for her 1939-40 fight with Soviet Russia.

HANOVERTON MAN'S FUNERAL ARRANGED

No Witnesses to Accident In Which Road Worker Is Killed

Funeral service for Earl Charles Snyder, 47, of Hanoverton, Columbiana county highway department employee who was killed yesterday afternoon, will be held at the home in Hanoverton at 2:30 p. m. Thursday in charge of Rev. Howard Miller, pastor of the Kensington Christian church.

Burial will be in Grove Hill cemetery at Hanoverton.

Friends may call at the home Wednesday afternoon and evening.

Mr. Snyder, who had a narrow escape from death three weeks ago while at work, was killed at 2 p. m. Monday when crushed beneath a road roller which overturned on the Chambersburg-Reading road.

The tragedy occurred just north of Chambersburg in West township. Fellow workmen, who did not witness the accident, believe Snyder had suffered a sunstroke while operating the heavy machine. He apparently made no attempt to jump when the roller started to upset after reaching the edge of an embankment.

The machine had no roof or other obstruction which would have prevented Mr. Snyder from leaping to safety.

While working at a tippie in Lisbon three weeks ago, he was buried under several tons of slag, dumped accidentally. He was extricated by fellow workmen at that time.

Born April 1, 1894, at Guilford, he had resided in the vicinity of Hanoverton all his life. He was a member of the Hanoverton Christian church and the Eagles lodge of Lisbon.

Surviving are his wife, Christina Wildman Snyder; three sons, Paul, Charles and David, and two daughters, Hilda and Melba, at home; two brothers, Claire and Marion Snyder of Warren, and two sisters, Mrs. Marie Jackson and Mrs. Mildred Hess of Warren.

REDS LAUNCH NEW ATTACKS

Claim Counter Drives On Nazis; Germans Claim Bessarabia

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW, July 29.—Russian counter-attacks against Adolf Hitler's invading legions were reported today to have spread to all major sectors of the front in one of the greatest battles of all time. The Soviet atmosphere was one of calm confidence.

Germans are still trying to push forward, particularly in the Smolensk sector of the central zone, military observers said, but both there and in the Zhitomir region of the Ukraine are "breaking against the firmness and stubbornness" of the defenders.

Nazi losses were described as heavy.

Authoritative advice as late as yesterday said that the battered rail and highway corridor of Smolensk, 230 miles west of the Soviet capital, was still in Russian hands after 12 days of bitter fighting.

A modified form of trench warfare was reported in the northern sector, about Pskov, with the Germans meeting stiff resistance by digging in along temporary hollows, trying to edge forward and then dig in again.

Bessarabia "Liberated"

BERLIN, July 29.—Bessarabia has been "completely liberated" from the Russians and the last of the Red army units trapped by German drives in the Smolensk sector and in Estonia are facing destruction, the Nazis claimed.

RETURNS TO FACE ROBBERY CHARGES

LISBON, July 29.—Sheriff George Hayes went to Tiffin today to return Robert D. Shumaker of Springfield to this county, to face charges of armed robbery in connection with the robbery of the diner in Columbiana several weeks ago.

Shumaker was arrested near Tiffin in connection with an attempted robbery, and made a full confession of robberies in this and Mahoning counties, also implicating Andy Mowery of Youngstown, who is held in jail there.

In addition to the Columbiana robbery, Shumaker is said to have confessed the looting of the Country Kitchen near Unity, the breaking and entering of the Venice Gardens at North Lima, and the theft of a car in Youngstown.

CHARGES ATTEMPT TO USE BOND MONEY

LISBON, July 29.—County Auditor Ross Tisher sought today to block what he said was an attempt by the county commissioners to transfer bond retirement funds to the county general fund for operating expenses. Close to $21,000 is in the bond retirement fund.

Tisher said he would "lay his cards on the table" at a meeting tonight in East Liverpool when he and the commissioners attend a meeting called by the taxation committee of the East Liverpool Chamber of Commerce.

LACK OF WATER WORRIES NAZIS IN EAST DRIVE

Plight of Soldiers On Red Front Seen In German Writer's Story

ASSERTS "THIS WAR IS DRIEST OF ALL"

Towns Destroyed by Reds, Wells Yield Only Muddy Broth

Hans Huffzky, a reporter in one of the German army's propaganda companies known as "PKS," has produced one of the most descriptive pieces concerning the soldier's plight and thought on the Russian battle-front that has come to the attention of American correspondents in Berlin.

Like all German reporters, Huffzky, 28, was not sent to the front as a war correspondent, but was drafted as a soldier, assigned to a propaganda company and sent into battle with the rank of an officer. Occasionally engaged in action, several of these PK men have been killed.

Before the war Huffzky was editor-in-chief of Jungle Dame, a magazine for girls in the high teens. His story, sent through normal channels to the high command for approval and then to Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, is titled "The Campaign Without Water"—The Associated Press.

BY HANS HUFFZKY, German Journalist

WITH THE GERMAN ARMY ON THE EASTERN FRONT, July 29.—This war is the driest of all wars. That is because it leads past too few water mains, fewer than in Poland and fewer than in France. Flap down your dust-coated eyelashes, comrade, and think back—think of France: Wasn't that then one vast water fountain compared with this country?

Yesterday we passed a village as we rolled along the marching route of our panzers. For hours before we had located it on our map; now it must still be 10 kilometers away, now only five, now just one more—there it was, the village, there was the first house and there, too, was the first bucket-well.

Down deep with the pull-up it came with mire and mud. On to the next well! It yielded only a brownish broth.

The wells already had been drawn dry by our comrades. So once again

FIVE DRAW FINES ON TRAFFIC COUNTS

Five motorists were arrested by Salem state highway patrolmen Monday.

Fines of $10 and costs each were levied against the following by Mayor Norman Phillips:

William Cranston, 48, of Beloit, charged with permitting an unlicensed driver to operate a car; Miss Elizabeth Boray, 38, of Alliance, driving a car without an operator's license; Lonzo Harris, 38, of Youngstown, speeding; Albert Zelinsky, 21, of Alliance, reckless driving.

George W. Marchbanks, 22, of Hanoverton, charged with driving an overloaded truck, drew a fine of $25 and costs at a hearing before Justice M. K. Zimmerman in Lisbon.

John Doe Finds His Taxes Will Probably Be Tripled

Schedule Hasn't Actually Been Adopted Yet, But Doe Figures On Pretty Stiff Jolt

By IRVING PERLMETER Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, July 29.—John Doe added up his federal tax bill today, and found it probably was going to be tripled.

Mr. Doe is an ordinary taxpayer-citizen. He makes $3,000 a year, has a wife and a child. May be your budget is far different from his, but his may give an idea of what's in store for you.

He figured that by counting such things as the gasoline tax he would pay Uncle Sam, directly and indirectly, $42.10 in an average year under present rates. Then he looked at the new schedules proposed by the house ways and means committee and calculated they would raise the bill to $129.21. (Tax increases will not become effective until house and senate have acted on the committee proposals, but best indications were that those or similarly high rates would eventually be enacted.)

DEATH SEEN AS FINAL VICTORY

Untold Thousands Dying In Red-Nazi Battle of Extermination

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

One of the grim aspects of the great conflict in the Russian theater, which today's reports indicate is continuing with fierce intensity, but with out much change in position, is that it has developed into a savage and primitive battle of extermination which is costing the lives of untold thousands.

The Nazis early announced and frequently emphasized complete destruction of the Red army as its primary objective. The matter presumably was publicized by Berlin for the purpose of breaking Bolshevik morale, but somebody overlooked the fact that the announcement would likely make the Reds fight harder.

The Muscovites, instead of quitting, have accepted the German gaze and responded in kind to the Hitlerian methods of liquidation. The result is an altogether bloody business.

There is another issue in this terrible battle of millions which far transcends the ordinary stakes of war—which of the two regimes, Nazism or Communism, is to survive.

The Hitlerites haven't limited their objectives to the obliteration of the Red army. They say they will destroy the Communist regime also. To this threat the Muscovites haven't replied in words.

We do have what serves for an answer from wholly different quarters. Acting Secretary of State Welles declares that "there can be no peace until the Hitlerite government of Germany has been finally and utterly destroyed." That echoes British Premier Churchill's historic line.

"We seek to beat the life and soul out of Hitler and Hitlerism—that alone."

One is forced to the conclusion that either the Communist or the Nazi government is on the way out.

Gasoline Rations Forecast For East

NEW YORK—July 29.—A moderate rationing plan for gasoline and oil among eastern motorists, to be imposed by the federal government immediately after Labor day, Sept. 1, was forecast today by certain well-informed oil men.

This forecast followed a statement by Harold L. Ickes, petroleum coordinator, that unless motorists voluntarily cut down on their gasoline use government action to curtail consumption might be expected.

He indicated the government's decision would be made within two weeks.

The New York oil men said one of the first curtailment plans likely to be adopted would be the closing of filling stations 12 hours a day—from 7 p. m. to 7 a. m.

Such a program, they said, would cut down on "casual" night motoring and would, incidentally, bring home to motorists, who thus far have considered the impending eastern gasoline shortage something remote, some idea of the seriousness of the situation brought about by the transfer to the British of tankers which formerly supplied the east.

Another aspect of the rationing plan, it was predicted, would be to allow certain amounts of gasoline and oil to all distributors each month, then leave it up to the distributors to see to it that motorists did not overbuy.

The increase of 1,500,000 gallons last week in gasoline retail sales, referred to by Ickes, was regarded by the oil men as due to the usual mid-July bulge in vacation travel.

4 SPECIAL ISSUES LISTED AT PRIMARY

Two special Salem issues are among four in Columbiana county which will be voted upon at the Aug. 12 primary elections.

Salem city is seeking approval of a one-mill levy for the continuation of the South Broadway sewer project and auxiliary sewer jobs.

The Salem school district is urging support of a one and one-half mill operating levy for current expenses.

At East Liverpool voters will be asked to approve a $35,000 road bond issue for improvement of Pennsylvania ave., part of State Route 39.

Wellsville city will vote on a poor relief levy of one and one-half mills.

The board of elections in East Liverpool has mailed 34 absentee ballots to voters here and in other parts of the county. Aug. 7 is the deadline for the issuance of absentee and disabled voters' ballots which must be returned to the board of elections before noon Aug. 8.

Body of Steel Worker Found at Steubenville

STEUBENVILLE, July 29.—Boys playing around a sewer in Weirton, W. Va., late today found the body of Magnone Marto, 48, steel worker, who had been missing from home since Sunday. He had been shot twice in the head.

It is believed that Marto was slain elsewhere and that the body was stuffed into the sewer in the night and the opening covered with steel plates taken from nearby mill yards.

No motive for the crime is known to Weirton authorities.

Marto, a strip steel employee, was the father of two children.

58 ARE CALLED ON NEXT DRAFT

Nineteen from Salem Area Will Answer Induction Summons Thursday

Between 55 and 58 Columbiana county men will answer Uncle Sam's summons for army training in draft call No. 23 Thursday.

The Salem draft board is scheduled to send 19 youths, Lisbon, 20, and East Liverpool 19. Probable deferment of one or more draftees employed in defense-busy factories may lower the list.

The Salem district men will report at the Memorial building headquarters at 9 a. m. Thursday. Their bus is scheduled to leave at 9:45.

At Columbus today state selective service officials forecast that at least two months would elapse before first calls were made on 40,500 Ohioans registered in the July 1 draft.

"Boards will start mailing out questionnaires in the next two weeks," said Maj. Harold L. Hays, headquarters executive officer. "Ten days will be required for board consideration, another 10 days are needed for physical examinations, and a minimum of 22 days elapse between examinations and actual induction."

Maj. W. J. DuBose of the national field division, in Columbus on a routine inspection, said the Selective Service program was running "very smoothly" in Ohio.

Major DuBose said there was still space available for new inductees, but indicated any extension of the 12-month training plan would result in a pruning of present army divisions.

"Persons more than 28 years old undoubtedly will be permitted to take honorable discharges, if they desire," Major DuBose said. "There will be others discharged because of industrial aptitudes and some will be dropped after a year as unsuited for army material."

Annual Outing Is Held By Guilford Juveniles

Guilford Juvenile grange held its annual picnic at Firestone park Tuesday afternoon, with mothers of the members as guests. The group enjoyed swimming and a wiener roast.

At the last meeting of the grange the juvenile degree team initiated John Baker, Donna Mae, Doris and Donald Anderson.

The juveniles received their certificate from the Louis C. Taber forest project in which they participated. The certificate, which will be framed and displayed in the grange hall, was sent in appreciation of the funds sent by the grange to plant a quarter acre of trees in the Taber forest.

The program included: Song, "I'll Be Back in a Year," Vivian Farmer, accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Hrovatic and Rose Farmer; roll call, "Where I Would Like to Go on My Vacation"; poem, Betty Evans.

At the next meeting Aug. 2, the Bayard juvenile grange will present a program and Guilford juveniles will be in charge of the business and degree work for the project meeting.

CHICAGO SAYS COOL BREEZES HEADING EAST

Barometric Pressure Rising In Canada and Northwest

EXPECT BENEFITS IN OHIO THURSDAY

259 Lives Is Toll To Date Of Season's Worst Hot Spell

(By Associated Press)

A break in the death-producing humid heat wave was forecast today by the Chicago weather bureau.

Forecaster G. L. Canaday said barometric pressure was rising in Canada, North Dakota and extreme northwestern Minnesota. As this "high" develops, he explained, it will expand in size and send cooling breezes into the sweltering midlands. Accompanying showers were likely.

Canaday said cooler weather should reach the Chicago area tomorrow night. It will move on eastward through the Ohio valley Thursday or Friday.

The season's worst hot spell has taken 259 lives, 127 by heat prostration and 132 by drowning.

A promise of thunderstorms today gave Ohioans hope for at least temporary respite from a week-long heat wave that sent the mercury to 100 two days straight and brought death to at least 21 persons.

While predicting local storms and saying it would not be quite so hot during the day, the weatherman offered no indication of sustained relief.

Temperatures hovered between 90 and 100 most of yesterday, excepting in the northern section of the state where rain and electrical

An official high temperature of 94 degrees was recorded here yesterday afternoon, although some downtown thermometers hit 99 degrees between 2:30 and 3:30 p. m. at the time the 94 registered on the gauge at the sewage treatment plant.

The mercury stood at an even 90 degrees at noon today as dark clouds kept their distance. Rainstorms have missed the city for three days now.

Nearby rains late yesterday afternoon, however, caused temperatures here to drop. The mercury slid to 68 degrees during the night.

Storms brought sudden comfort late in the day. The highest for the day was Springfield's 101.

Storm Hits Canton

It was 100 at Canton, a new five-year record, before a violent storm tumbled the mercury 33 degrees. Five houses were struck by lightning and electrical service was disrupted generally throughout the city.

Cleveland was cooler, too, the temperature falling from 95 to 75. Cincinnati had 96.7, while it was 95 at Columbus, Akron, and Toledo.

Lightning struck a tractor operating on a highway project near Bellevue, killing Arthur B. Buehrer, 30, of Ridgeville Center. His death was the 21st attributed to the weather in the past week.

Nine persons have died of heat prostration, while 11 drowned while seeking relief.

Latest prostration victims were Mrs. Amanda Morris, 76, of Springfield, and Albert G. Watson, 48, of Toledo.

Eleven-year-old Jack Siren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy P. Siren of Charleroi, Pa., drowned in Lake Erie near Ashtabula while on a camping trip, and Leo Harris, 17, an NYA worker, drowned in a quarry at Youngstown.

Twenty-six heat prostrations in the national capital area were reported as the mercury hit the century mark.

An electrical storm that started more than 20 fires in Philadelphia cooled eastern Pennsylvania.

With 98, Chicago sweltered through its hottest July 28 in history, a degree warmer than on that date in 1915.

Minnesota led in heat deaths with 26, Illinois had 16 and New York 14. In drownings, Michigan led with 26, Wisconsin had 13 and Illinois 11.

NAZI SUBS CLAIM ATLANTIC VICTORY

BERLIN, July 29.—Authorized German sources asserted tonight that German submarines yesterday and last night sank 19 British vessels totaling 118,500 tons.

These ships were said to have been in a trans-Atlantic convoy. The Germans reported one destroyer and one corvette protecting the convoy also were sunk.

A SOLDIER'S DIGNITY

In this un-military nation there is scant background for dealing with military issues in military terms. The terms are more likely to be political, which is responsible for most of the inane talking and fustian-brained thinking that has featured the argument over extending the one-year training period for selectees, national guardsmen, and reserve officers.

It is possible, however, to find signs that a military issue—and clearly the training extension argument is a military issue—can be approached in a manner that adds to the dignity of the young men who are learning to be soldiers for the sake of their country. Most of them probably are infinitely more encouraged by the following statement from Major Gen. Robert S. Beightler, commanding officer of Ohio national guard at Camp Shelby, than by anything the muddlers have said so far:

"Our job as soldiers," Gen. Beightler informed his men, "is to serve. Our service may well mean more work, more sacrifices and more time than we first believed. I know that many of you are anxious to go home. I know you have plenty of arguments on your side. But I wonder if any one of us would, after sober thought, be willing to abandon at this critical moment all we have worked to build up only to satisfy our personal desires."

The selective service act, contrary to a widely repeated misinterpretation, was not a contract expiring automatically in 12 months. It said that each man inducted should "serve for a training and service period of 12 consecutive months unless sooner discharged, except that whenever the congress has declared that the national interest is imperiled, such 12-month period may be extended by the President for such time as may be necessary in the interests of national defense."

Chief of Staff Gen. Marshall has explained that the war department has no intention of holding men in service longer than they are needed, but earnestly desires the privilege of releasing them in a way that will not upset its training program. As a military measure, what Gen. Marshall asks is simply unassailable. Unfortunately, it has not been discussed as a military measure.

CHANGE OF PACE

The fiscal fast balls congress has been throwing up to the public for the last year are a fair imitation of young Bobby Feller's Sunday pitches. With no apparent effort, more spending has been authorized than was believed possible even in the most profligate days of the pump primers.

Any sum of less than a billion scarcely gets attention in the press any more, on the theory that it is not news when a dog bites a man. The public has become so inured to billions, in fact, that it takes a multiple attack to create much of a stir. In a few days recently all preliminary groundwork was completed on a new defense spending bill calling for an outlay of more than $8,000,000,000, which happens to be more than the federal government spent for all purposes in 1938, yet no one seemed to be excited about it. In a defense total of more than $30,000,000,000, a few more billions are easily lost.

The disparity between the spending rate and the money raising rate now is to be emphasized by consideration of a tax bill. Having labored for 10 months many months the house ways and means committee, where tax legislation originates, has figured out how to raise $3,529,200,000 in new revenue. Weeks will be spent debating the bill. It will be dragged back and forth through the knotholes of argumentation. At long last when the legislators have exhausted all the possibilities, a bill which they hope will raise somewhere near $3,500,000,000 will be sent to the White House and propped up against a spending rate that Republicans, who are beginning to ask, "Whither spending?" say soon will reach $100,000,000 a day—$36,500,000,000 a year.

A DIVIDEND FALLS DUE

Offsetting some of the political horseplay carried on at the expense of and sometimes with connivance of the Philippines have been common sense measures for Filipino security. Chief among them has been the training of a native army under Gen. Douglas MacArthur, retiring chief of staff of the United States army.

That army today, trained "to give pause to the most ruthless and powerful," as Gen. MacArthur himself described its function, protects the islands from the wide open threat of trouble raised by Japan's southward move. Its new bases in Indo-China lie directly across the South China sea from Manila. The army also protects the United States naval base at Cavite.

Under President Roosevelt's proclamation of last Saturday, the Philippines' defense force will serve as part of the United States defense force, which was foreseen as a desirable arrangement in case of emergency and provided for in law. It is one of the few cases since the war started in which the United States was prepared in advance to maintain its interests.

Ever since Japan's expansion of influence became the No. 1 fact in the Pacific, the hopeful theory of Philippine independence has been conditional, depending on what Japan might choose to do. The freedom-agitating Filipinos were in the anomalous position of not wanting to have their way lest they lose their freedom to Japan. Certainly it is easy to imagine that nothing looks better to a Filipino who wants independence today than the Stars and Stripes.

THE WEATHER

Somehow it's reassuring to see that the weather is still the weather. It can steal the center of the stage merely by turning on a little heat—enough to come up to expectations—nothing out of the ordinary—just so confounded hot it blisters the epidermis—and fags the mind—and defies all kinds of subterfuges like cold drinks and porous clothing—and leaves everybody gasping—and makes mortals squirm most of the night—and saps their strength in the daytime—and all the time is doing more extraordinary than eliciting the words we all longed to hear last January—"Continued warm tomorrow"—have a heart.

THE STARS SAY:

For Wednesday, July 30

A RATHER routine state of affairs is read from the prevailing planetary influences. The personal rather than business interests seem to occupy the attention, although public affairs of a social, humane, fraternal or community aspect, may succeed through cleverness, secret or tacit understandings, in which large corporations or organizations have prominent part. Such affiliation may develop peculiar or surprising angles, in which new ideas or problems are advanced by social, artistic or sentimental factors rather than strictly business tenets. But be alert to dubious entanglements or quarrels.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for a fairly active year, in which the personal equation may overshadow strictly commercial interests. Public, community or group action in connection with humanitarian, cultural or charitable organizations should prosper, especially if new ideas or novel forms of promotion be employed. But keep alert to peculiar or unexpected entanglements or duplicity and also shun tempest and confused or rash acts.

A child born on this day may have many interesting or uncommon talents which it may put to use for the public welfare, in social, educational or cultural lines. It may attain success by originality and engaging personality.

Even the Nazis are finding it hard to streamline a 2000-mile line!

Shown in New York, ready to return to the Battle of Britain are some of the 35 men who, caught in Holland by the Nazi invasion, escaped and almost circled the globe in their quest for commissions as Royal Netherlands East Indies via the U. S., for advanced training.

HUMAN CHILDREN REARED BY WOLF

Story Is Confirmed, Says Dr. Clendening

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

I have read from time to time in the last few years reports of a missionary in India who found a human child that had been brought up with a family of wolves. I believed implicitly in Kipling's Mowgli and Romulus and Remus in my earlier days but I wore that belief out, along with some others, and I felt it was a little too much of a strain on my credulity to believe in this one.

Now comes a book from the Yale University Press, "Wolf Child and Human Child," in which such an unimpeachable authority as Dr. Arnold Gesell confirms the story, relates all the details and throws in some actual photographs for full measure.

Starting Facts

The bare facts certainly need no embellishing to startle or horrify the imagination to its depths. In 1920 the Rev. J. A. L. Singh, a native Christian missionary in the parish of Midnapore near Calcutta, India, heard that a man-Ghost had been seen in the jungle. The missionary and his wife with some of the villagers who had seen it went to the spot.

At dusk they saw an adult wolf come out of a hole followed by another of the same size and then by some cubs, and then came the ghost—a hideous looking being, hand, foot and body like a human being but the head was a big ball of something covering the shoulders, leaving only a sharp contour of a face visible and it was human. Close at its heels came another similar creature."

Two Children Found

The wolf den was broken into and the two human children taken back to the mission. They were both girls. One soon died. The other, christened Kamala, lived nine years. It was estimated she was eight years old when found.

The supposition is that when tiny babies they were left by their mother to play in the forest and a wolf mother whose cubs had died came along, lifted them gently in her mouth and took them to her den. Many such occurrences are known in India.

For a long time Kamala maintained her wolf-like ways. She progressed on all fours, either knees or toes and hands and elbows and had such callouses on the knees that she could not straighten her legs to stand upright. It was two years before she even stood on her knees to reach for something high.

Wolflike Habits

At three regular intervals during the night—ten in the evening, one and three in the morning—the wolf family howled to announce their whereabouts to distant packs—a language cry, not an expression of rage or fear. The human children joined in the eerie cry, and for years Kamala at the mission at ten, one and three (though she knew nothing of how to tell the time by the clock) would arise and give the wolf cry.

She growled if anyone came near her dish while eating. She came upon a dead chicken, devoured it completely, entrails and all.

Gradually she changed to human ways. First she accepted food and drink from human hands. She stood erect in 1923. Seven years after she came to the mission she spoke human words. The story of these changes is one of the most astounding human records ever made. It gives us, concludes Dr. Gesell, "new faith in the stamina of human nature and the potentialities of human growth."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Grandfather: "We have a new baby at our house and an argument came up regarding how old a baby is before it can see or distinguish any object or person. The parents claim it has to be three months before it can see. Will you kindly answer this through your column?"

Answer: The new-born infant evades the light during the first few weeks; the infant indicates by every sign that excessive light is too bright, but about the first week the eyes will somewhat follow a light in the room, and the child may turn the head for this purpose. The muscles of the eyes do not coordinate until about the end of the third month. Recognition of objects is not usually in evidence until six months. It is important that the room in which the new-born infant is placed should be darkened.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp to Dr. Logan Clendening, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Cure of the Hair and Skin."

Lady Says "Ton Jon Did More Good Than Anything Else She Has Taken"

Regained Several Pounds
Of Much Needed Weight

MRS. ANNA MAIZLIK

If you suffer, you do yourself an injustice if you don't try TON JON, now being introduced by the TON JON Health Representative at the Broadway Lease Drug Store, Salem, Ohio.

"Thanks to TON JON, I have regained several pounds of much needed weight. All of this time I have found nothing which gave me the results TON JON has given me in the short time I have been taking it."

the LOW DOWN on Borrowing

Butter is up. Steak is dear. Coal is getting scarce, we hear. But money is plentiful and there's no increase in its cost either. In fact, you can get a loan of $100 today and repay it in regular monthly payments for one year at an average daily cost of less than 4 cents.

So here's a timely tip . . . Arrange a convenient budget loan now. Take the money, square up bills and debts and have just one place to pay. Then, fill up the coal bin, stock up the larder and replenish your wardrobe. Get the benefit of cash buying now and repay your loan later, a little at a time. A really good idea!

FUN AND PROFIT TOO

Our loan No. 118436 is a "traveling restaurateur" who paid the balance due on his car, bought material to build a traveling lunch stand and was off to the fairs, selling hamburgers and soft drinks, all with the help of a small loan. He says: "We had a lot of fun out of it as well as a handsome profit. Thanks to The City Loan."

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

Although it was late when the Baroness left Norheim's rooms, Marie did not ask her to stay for dinner. They had cocktails on what Marie called "the back porch."

Tony found himself again drawn toward this tragic woman. What had she and Norheim said? The Baroness gave no hint. She sat on the wicker lounge, between Tony and Ray Sheldon. Glancing up, Tony found Marie looking at him with a puzzled expression, and he realized with a start that his own manner toward La Lascar was markedly warm. Nino Lippi, beside Marie, was also watching him.

Eve Pryne was none too cordial toward a woman she hoped Marie would not invite as another guest. At last Eve rose with unwonted energy from her chair, her eyes the very naive blue which permitted her so many indiscretions. "Well, I for one am going to dress," she said. "Will you excuse me, Baroness?"

After that, Madame Lascar took her leave beautifully. Tony went with her. He offered the excuse of escorting her back to her hotel.

"Do go," Marie said. "We won't wait dinner. Do you mind?"

Once in the launch, Madame Lascar sat narrow and quiet, opposing Tony's efforts to draw her out. But as he walked with her to the Hotel d'Angleterre, her slender hand caught at his sleeve. "Do not stay on the yacht," she whispered.

"Why?" he halted.

"Hand fell away. Her fine eyes seemed to take pleasure in the mountainous island at this twilight hour. 'Corfu is so enchantingly of the past,' she said. 'One is so contented on a yacht. And Cannes—well, the Riviera—you know it.'"

"I know what it used to be," he said. And they spoke no more.

Tony saw her into the elevator, and hurried to the desk, hardly hoping for an answer to his cable to Ed Keeler. But there was one. It said, "YOUR FIRST CABLE NOT RECEIVED. GREEN LIGHTS."

That meant to go ahead, of course. So Marie had not sent that deliberately misleading wire from the Serena. Therefore, from the moment they left Corfu, he would be cut off from all communication with New York.

Tony felt unpeppably depressed. They were not yet at dinner when he returned to the yacht. Marie met him, as he took the stairs to his stateroom. She had changed into something silky and of the dark blue she seemed to like best.

"I've told Captain Buckner I want to start for Cannes at once," she said. "Do you still want to come along?"

"May I?" Tony countered.

"If you want to," she said carelessly, and ran up the stairs.

The Serena was on her smooth course to Cannes. The island of Corfu was a dream left behind. They rounded the toe of Italy's boot, passed through the Straits of Messina, and were in the Tyrrhenian Sea. The sense of strain on board should have been lessened. But it hadn't; it increased instead.

Norheim felt uneasy, after his talk with the Baroness Lascar. He took his temper out on Nino, whose romantic heart revolved at making love to Marie under pressure.

Much of Major Eric Thelme's blustering heartiness had subsided. He liked Anthony Worth and loved Marie Schuyler as a big, shaggy dog loves someone kind; and he knew that harm threatened both these young people. But his terror of what Norheim would do to him, outweighed his sympathies. He wished Norheim had never spotted him that time in Monte when he went broke. He had been calling himself Lord Hurlingham then.

Tony was moody. He had made no headway. The golden Riviera of casinos and intrigue, promised developments he couldn't foresee. How could he, before then, uncover the dark play on the yacht? How was it possible, he thought despairingly, to risk any bold move on this boat, with Marie at stake?

He wished he could be frank with Ray Sheldon. But Ray couldn't risk anything to himself. He was like some small, sprightly retriever, trotting about picking things up. And he was over-friendly with Fritz, the steward. Tony had caught them whispering together.

Marie Schuyler felt glad that the cruise, upon which she had so casually embarked, would soon be over. Tony piqued her; Nino aroused conflicting emotions, and she was beginning to resent Felix Norheim's pervading authority on her yacht. Her state of mind was, therefore, unsettled when, on Thursday morning, she strolled into Mrs. Pryne's cabin adjoining her own.

Eve was manicuring her nails, sitting propped against pillows, a pink silk spread harmonizing with her pink and white make-up. "Are you going to marry the Marchese, darling?" she languidly asked. "You can't keep him dandling forever. He's been quite squirmy since that good-looking Worth boy turned up. I wonder," she chattered on, "if that dear old guardian of yours had anything to do with this Tony being in Corfu. It does seem rather funny, doesn't it?"

"Tony isn't a snoop," Marie said, haughtily, wandering over to Eve's dresser. She unstoppered one of the many flasks of perfume arrayed there, and wrinkled her nose over it. She set it down. "I think I'd like Tony better if he loosened up a little more," she complained. "He's so sort of glum all the time."

"You mean he doesn't make love to you?" Eve applied a light polish to her thumbnail. "I asked you if you were going to marry Nino. You know, my dear, you do come into your own in two months. You're nearly twenty-one and you're still a problem child. You don't mind my saying that? Judge Fairchild definitely feels you shouldn't marry a foreigner. He once told me," she added, "that he thought American money should stay in America, especially with everything so muddled abroad. I see what he means."

Marie's dark blue eyes flashed. She seized a comb and drew it impatiently through the deep red of her hair that curled outward along her shoulders. "I'd marry Lippi tomorrow if I were sure I'd never want to divorce him," she said.

But later, when Marie went up on deck, the future seemed much less important than the present. It was a heavenly day. Nino Lippi waited for her. He was in high spirits this morning, perhaps because he hadn't been summoned by Norheim for one of the talks that took all romance out of his amorous soul.

He took Marie's hand and led her, unprotesting, to the farthest end of the bow. They stood silent a moment, watching the glitter of foam parting as the ship drove ahead. A wind had come up, tossing spume over the rails.

Marie laughed with the sheer joy of living, her hair fanning out around her gay, vivid face. It was such a clean blue world. She and Nino shone in it, their bright heads close together, their arms linked.

"My darling, my beautiful darling—carissima io t'amo—I love you, love you," he said at last in a low voice.

"Do you, Nino?" she turned to look up at him. He was very sweet. "I cannot bear waiting any longer," he said, passionately. "I am tormented. I do not sleep. All the time I think of you, my little love. Will you not make me the happiest of men? Will you not marry me?"

Marie's gaze widened on him with questions of a lifetime. But in the fine air of the June day everything seemed perfect. There wasn't a cloud; only the voice of Nino—arcent, persuasive, in her ear. "Why, I—" she began.

Captain Buckner looked bleakly down from his bridge at the two slender figures in the bow. No mistake about what was going on. He growled to his officers, Middleton and Swan, with a seaworthy oath. "If that lass were my young 'un, I'd take her over my knee!"

Swan sighed. He was quite young, with a gentle brown eye. He had a girl in New York he hoped to marry some day. He wrote her every Saturday night, and sometimes sent her bits of poetry. But the brittle Middleton, a confirmed bachelor, agreed with the captain.

Tony, with creased brow, had watched Marie and Nino walk off toward the bow. They were absorbed in each other; any intrusion then would have made him more unpopular. Marie had been distinctly on the cool side since he had escorted La Lascar back to shore.

Worth was scowling after them when Ray Sheldon grabbed him. It was early for Ray to be up and around, suggesting a turn about deck. He was bristling with mystery and importance as he beckoned Tony to the rail.

"Now, my lad, out with it!" Worth said, good-naturedly.

They had come to a halt opposite the port windows of Norheim's suite which formed the end of the main deck's aft units. Ray's pointed little ears twitched, and he was shaken by a gale of silent laughter as he looked at the closed windows. "Pretty snug in there, isn't he?" Tony nodded, and glanced across the deck. With a sense of almost physical impact, he saw Felix Norheim's distorted face flattened against a window pane. Then the ugly mask vanished.

"I don't like this spot," Tony said sourly. "Let's move."

Ray screwed up his sharp little nose. "There's more than meets the eyes in there," he whispered, grinning at Tony's disgusted expression. "I say the man's making a fortune in juggling munitions. I'm going to find out."

Tony walked away. But he didn't walk far. He waited for the little man to catch up, and then brusquely demanded, "What do you mean you're going to find out?"

"I don't think I'd better tell you. No, I really don't think I should," Ray said. There were thready lines about his bright eyes in the sunlight. "If I get anything, it's got to be a scoop—a big one!"

He looked at Tony, and for a moment he didn't seem so assured. "You see I write articles—special correspondence for the newspapers and so on. I often mail in tid-bits—I don't mean malicious gossip," he added, with a strange—for him—earnestness. "Just slants on news and personalities, you know; human interest items with a dash of paprika to give them zest. No byline stuff as yet; I don't sign my own name." He looked down at the deck and up into Tony's gray eyes.

"It's my mother," Ray said, with a wry twist of his eyebrow. "My mother thinks writers—that is, journalists—are awfully low. She wants to support me, and of course I won't have it. So—" His small hands waved vaguely toward the sea, as if blessing the miles of it between him and his parent. "So I have a knack of scribbling, and—oh well, on fait ce qu'on peut, meaning one does what one can."

"I'd like to read something of yours," Tony said warmly, liking Ray and distrusting his discretion more than ever. Then it came over him that all this talk had been about. "Listen, you're not thinking of Norheim as a scoop?"

Tony was genuinely alarmed now. When Ray's nerves were wound up, he could be foolhardy. "Leave him alone!" Tony's voice was stern. "For heaven's sake, man, don't meddle with Norheim!"

Ray nodded with canny satisfaction. "I thought so. Afraid I'll put one over on you?"

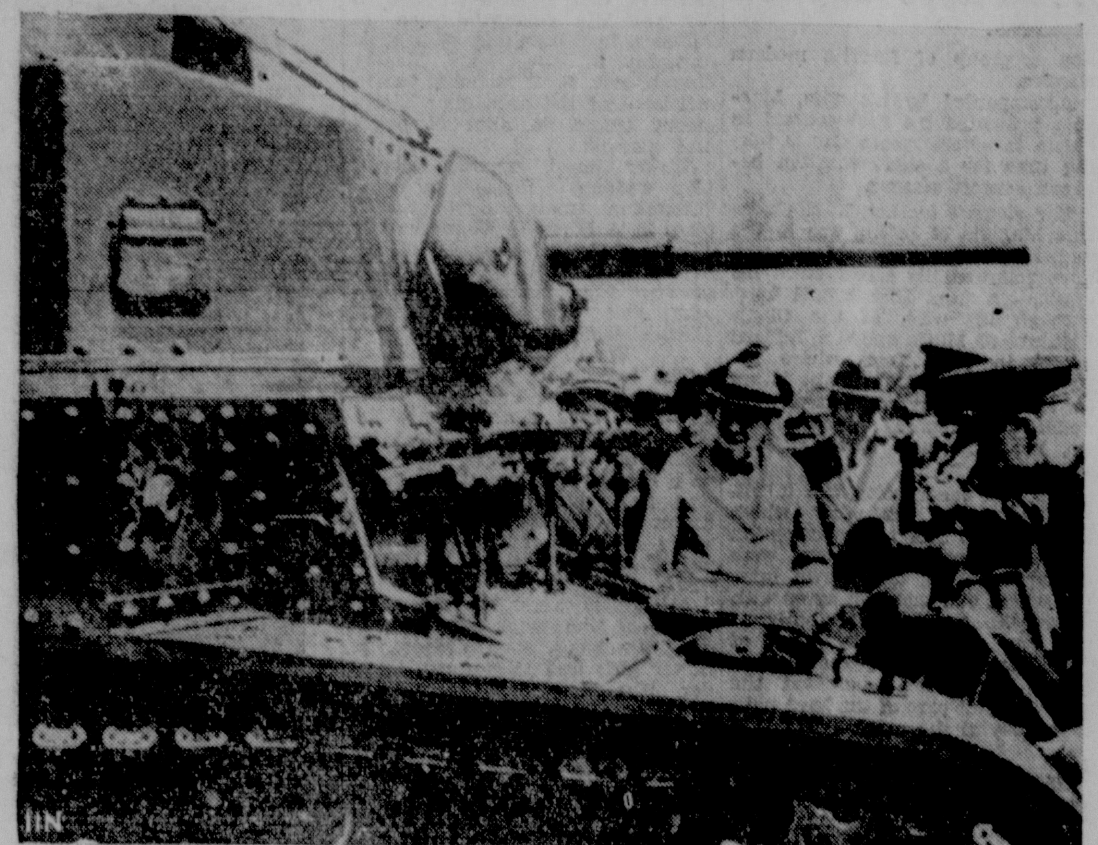

"It isn't that," Tony began, and checked himself. Official or unofficial, his tongue was honor bound. No one connected with such a mission as his talked.

Ray was staring beyond him. Marie and Nino Lippi were coming along the deck. They walked hand-in-hand, graceful, light of foot.

Marie saw Ray and Tony. "I'm engaged!" she cried. "I'm actually engaged. Isn't it wonderful?"

LITTLE CHATS ON PUBLIC NOTICES

By J. E. Pollard, Journalism Professor, Ohio State University

Under a Bushel

Every one knows what it means to hide one's light under a bushel. It's the same as placing it where it can't be seen. Any useful purpose the light could serve, therefore, is probably lost.

Much the same is true of a public notice posted in an out of the way place. This is true whether it is tacked to a fence corner off the beaten track or whether it is published in a medium whose circulation and coverage are anything but "general" in the community affected by the notice.

The whole purpose of the public notice is to employ such means as are likely to bring the notice to the prompt attention of those whose rights it involves. Short of direct personal notice, the newspaper is most effective for this purpose. But it should be a newspaper of general circulation, that is, distributed throughout the community in question and of such quality and contents as to have a general appeal.

The occasional practice of placing such notices in other types of publications of limited or doubtful coverage is open to question. Generally speaking, local newspapers carrying bona fide general news and having a substantial general circulation are by far the best means of safeguarding public as well as private rights in carrying Public Notices.

Consumer Credit Creed:

- "We believe, that, in order to justify its character, a bank must serve the reasonable credit requirements of its territory as well as provide a safe depository for funds;
- "That the extension of credit to salaried or wage-earning individuals on a sound basis is an economically important part of such service;
- "That, while recognizing the importance of volume in the reduction of loan costs, a bank should endeavor to assist people to get out of debt rather than into it;

It breathes through an extra "Nose" for action

IN one important way this stunning straight-eight pictured here is like no other in the world.

It has two "noses" to breathe through.

One of them is the forward carburetor of Buick's Compound Carburetion†—a thrifty, smaller-size gas-and-air mixer that handles all your normal driving with the greatest of ease and the maximum of thrift.

The other is a second carburetor with a very special mission.

It waits, unused, until you want action.

Then—The extra "nose" opens. Your engine breathes deeper. And z-i-i-i-p!—you're away in an extra burst of reserve power no other car in the world can provide.

Sounds good? Naturally—but that's only part of it.

Facts are, your engine is more efficient with Compound Carburetion's extra "nose" for action. Owner-experience shows that you actually go as much as 10% to 15% farther per gallon than you did in previous Buicks.

So better go try it. Try out Buick's bigger size, greater room, extra comfort at the same time.

Then ask delivered prices. Instead of being higher you'll find them actually lower than you'll pay anywhere else for anything like equal value.

†Available on Buick SPECIAL models at slight extra cost, standard on all other Series.

Marsilia Receives Applause Of Home Town Music Lovers

An audience which filled the main auditorium at the Methodist church last night heard Joseph Marsilia, native of Salem, who has won success on the concert stage, in opera and in radio, in a benefit concert for Red Cross war relief.

The young singer, who, in the opinion of many critics, deserves recognition as one of the country's finest American-trained singers, delighted his audience with well-known concert numbers, several of the more familiar operatic arias

Flower Arrangements Are Described

An interesting discussion and demonstration on the arrangements, variety of flowers and types of containers for flower arrangement by Mrs. Louis J. Heller of Youngstown featured a meeting of the Garden Study club at Centennial park yesterday afternoon.

Methods of arrangements, kinds of holders and flowers were explained by the speaker, an authority on flower arrangements. Mrs. Heller explained that colors in an arrangement should follow nature's grouping in the garden. Small flowers should be cut with long stems and tall flowers with short stems, to afford the best arrangement.

Mrs. Heller suggested starting ivy and violets in water early to have them ready for planting in the garden outside. To harden flowers for long life after cutting, the stems should be cut slantwise with a knife and should be plunged immediately into a pitcher of cold water. If they are to be used the next day for demonstration or display they should be left in cold water up to the bloom itself overnight and in the morning should have the ends snipped slantwise again. Heavier flowers, Mrs. Heller declared, should be cut slantwise, and should have the ends split and the bark scraped to insure long life.

Following Mrs. Heller's talk, Mrs. Harold Shears discussed the garden duties for July.

Refreshments were served after the program by Mrs. Arthur Lind and Mrs. Robert Wentz, who were hostesses.

A picnic is planned for 1 p. m. Aug. 26 at the home of Mrs. Dale Wilson, N. Ellsworth ave.

Plaid Preferred—In This Smart Garment

Plaid with plain is the new Fall formula! Add that combination to jumper-like lines and you have a perfect fashion for the office or the great outdoors. Our own designer, Anne Adams, creates this clever one-piece style in dark brown wool jersey, with dramatic yellow and brown plaid for sleeves and collar. Notice that dropped shoulder-line—it's the important new silhouette trend! The one-button neckline and bracelet-length sleeves are other significant style pointers. This exciting fashion is distinctive and different, but best of all, so blessedly easy to make. With the pattern's clear instruction sheet and the helpful modern sewing machine attachments, you'll set a record for sewing speed! This style, Pattern 4812, is available in sizes 12 to 20 and 32 to 40. It is only one in a series of Anne Adams patterns high-lighted on our Woman's Page. Watch for them, every day!

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins for this Anne Adams Pattern. Write plainly SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS and STYLE NUMBER. Send your order to The Salem News Pattern Department, 243 West 17th Street, New York, N. Y.

Miss Papic Bride of Charles Socotch

Miss Rose Papic, daughter of Mrs. Petra Papic of Salem, became the bride of Charles Socotch, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Socotch of Alliance, in a ceremony at 2 p. m. Saturday in the First Baptist church. Rev. S. T. Magann, pastor, officiated at the open church ceremony before an altar of palms and gladioli.

Walter Regal, organist, played the wedding music, including "Cantelina" (from the violin cello piece in A Minor by Gollermann); "Traumerl" (Schumann); "Shepherd's Idyll" (Geivell); the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" (Wagner); and "The Bridal March" (Mendelssohn).

Wears White Satin

The bride wore a white slipper satin dress with inserts of white lace from back of neckline to the end of the long train. The princess-style dress was fashioned with long sleeves, sweetheart neckline. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was arranged in a tiara of white satin gardenias. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses.

Attendants were Miss Margaret Bowen of Minerva as maid of honor; little Dona Jean Blender, as flower girl; and Miss Anna Blender, Miss Mary Papic, Mrs. Eva Lauscher and Miss Kathryn Papic as bridesmaids.

Bridesmaids wore princess gowns of tulle taffeta in orchid, peach, aqua and maize, respectively, with headbands of matching gardenias and roses.

The flower girl's floor length frock was of peach silk net. She carried a bouquet of roses. The maid of honor, in a gown of a design similar to the other attendants, wore wine taffeta with matching headband and carried yellow roses.

John Costa of Minerva served as best man, with Joseph, Michael, and Daniel Papic, brothers of the bride, and John Popa, as ushers.

The Mothers' Gowns

Mrs. Papic, mother of the bride, wore a green crepe frock with white accessories and Mrs. Socotch, mother of the groom, was in blue with white accessories. They wore shoulder corsages of yellow roses.

A reception and luncheon for friends and relatives followed the ceremony at the Veteran's hall. The table was decorated in white with a large wedding cake, topped with miniature bride and groom, as a centerpiece. Bouquets of gladioli completed the decorations.

Mr. and Mrs. Socotch will take their wedding trip in the fall. They are making their home with the groom's parents in Alliance.

Salem Garden Club Has Program

An informal quiz program followed the picnic luncheon held by the Salem Garden club at the Salem Country club Monday afternoon.

Approximately 40 members and a guest, Mrs. R. B. Heaton of Orlando, Fla., attended the affair. Prizes in the quiz went to Mrs. L. P. Metzger, Mrs. P. F. Wells and Mrs. P. W. Koenreich, and Mrs. L. B. Harris.

The members will have a breakfast Monday morning, Aug. 25, at Centennial park, followed by a tour of members' gardens.

Low Flying RAF Strikes Hard at Rotterdam

With the Nazi air force busy in Russia, the RAF rules the skies over the western part of the continent, making day and night raids to smash German industrial centers and Nazi-held positions in occupied countries. This picture shows the tail of a Blenheim bomber as the plane raked shipping at Rotterdam, flying low over the dock area.

DROP WAGNER FROM CHURCH MARRIAGES

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, July 29.—Catholic churches in the Cleveland diocese are gradually dropping the custom of playing the so-called "Wedding March" from the German opera, "Lohengrin."

Most of the churches already have discontinued the number, which has no part in the marriage ritual, it was reported today. Other music with a religious background is being substituted.

"Lohengrin," one of several operas written by Richard Wagner, was first produced on Aug. 28, 1850. Among the heroes in Wagner's works is the character Siegfried, whom Adolf Hitler is said to accept as a model.

The position of the clergy at Cleveland St. Aloysius church, one of the largest in the east side, was expressed in the current parish bulletin.

Under the heading, "The Wedding March—Pagan or Catholic?" the announcement said it was a mystery "how it ever came to be used in Catholic marriage ceremony."

"It begins with the suspicion of murder and ends with a broken vow," the bulletin said. "It is woven around black magic, the threat of war, a bitter domestic quarrel and the complete absence of the loyal trust without which Christian marriage cannot exist."

Issue Fireworks Permit

LISBON, July 29.—The first permit for a display of fireworks under the recently enacted law which becomes effective Aug. 1, was issued in this county to the Columbiana County Agricultural Society for exhibition at the annual fair, Sept. 11-12-13. The permit was issued by Sheriff George Hayes.

Man, Wife Draw Fines After Liquor Arrests

EAST LIVERPOOL, July 29.—Municipal Judge Frank E. Grosshans clamped down on a southern Columbiana county camp near here today after state liquor agents arrested a man and his wife and seized 12 cases of beer in a raid.

William Ekins and his wife, Irene, charged with operating the camp without a beer permit and also selling beer without a license, were fined $500 and costs each and sentenced to six months in jail. The jail sentences and $400 of each fine were suspended.

Warned that they must close the camp within five days and stay out of the liquor business for six months, they were released after paying $100 and costs each upon their pleas of guilty.

The camp, owned by a fraternal society, is in nearby Madison township.

REV. ASMUS DEAN AT YOUTH CONFERENCE

Rev. Carl Asmus, pastor of the Methodist church, is dean of the faculty of 22 ministers in charge of a senior Methodist youth conference being held at Bethesda. The conference, where seven Salem young people and their counselors are in attendance, opened last Sunday and will continue through Aug. 3.

Rev. Williams of Ohio Northern university at Ada is conducting a course for pastors at the conference.

The Salem group includes: Eleanor Eschman, Ina Mae Getz, Marjorie and Jean Reeves, Sallie Strunk, Marvin Coffee and Herbert Cross, with Mrs. Lou Getz and Mrs. H. V. Shepard as counselors.

Speakers at the conference include Silas Morales of Brazil and James L. Farmer, devotional life chairman of the Methodist national council.

Granted an immediate hearing, she explained that she did not know her five-year-old permit required annual renewal. The immigration authorities ruled in her favor.

Constable Shoots Self

LANCASTER, July 29.—Roman Young, 63, a constable here for 12 years, killed himself with a shotgun blast, Coroner J. D. Dupler reported.

Acquitted In New Trial

PORTSMOUTH, July 29.—Granted a new trial after being convicted two months ago by a three-judge court in the shotgun slaying of his wife, Clifford Slavens, 50-year-old Lucasville farmer, last night won acquittal from a jury on a first degree murder charge. Mrs. Slavens' body was found July 18, 1940 inside the farm home with all doors barred from the inside.

BODY FATIGUE

Surveys reveal the disconcerting fact that about seventy per cent of our school children are victims of foot ailments! These ailments generally cause body fatigue! Medical authorities point out that headaches, backache, leg pains, nervous irritability, varicose veins and other ills may originate from faulty shoes! Parents should check the shoes of their children once every three months for correct fit and condition.

Leetonia Church Will Hold Picnic

LEETONIA, July 30.—The annual picnic for members of St. Paul's Lutheran Sunday school will be held Wednesday afternoon at pavilion 4 at Firestone park, Columbiana. C. J. Stewart is chairman of the sports committee; Mrs. C. E. Holt, Jr., president of the Willing Workers class, is in charge of dinner committee and D. M. Weikert is in charge of the transportation. All persons desiring transportation are urged to meet at the church at 2:30 p. m.

The Willing Workers class of St. Paul's Lutheran church, taught by Mrs. H. C. Brillhart, held its annual picnic at Firestone park, Monday evening with the following committee in charge: Mrs. E. E. Sweeley, Mrs. Olive Wolfgang, Mrs. Marcus Holt, Mrs. John Rose, Mrs. T. J. Sauerwein, and Mrs. Elizabeth Mowry.

Corp. Roy Wolfgang of Fort Monmouth, N. J., is spending ten days furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Waddell, south of town.

Lester Baker, stationed with the U. S. army air corps at Bowman Field, Ky., spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Baker.

Rev. S. J. Shoemaker, Miss Ruth Derringer, Mrs. Wilbur Stratton, William Lodge, Robert Sipe, Elaine Aiken, Marie Exterly, Robert Leonard and Churchill Carter left Sunday for Bethesda where they will attend Epworth league institute. Rev. Shoemaker and Miss Derringer will teach at the institute.

Persons who want anything, know The News is 'The Want Medium' in this vicinity. So read it.

"Miss California"

Rosemary LaPlante

Although Venice, Cal., already has selected a girl to rule as "Miss California" for 1941, Los Angeles holds another beauty contest and picks Rosemary LaPlante, 19, as the state beauty queen to represent California in the "Miss America" contest in Atlantic City in September.

Wants to Stretch Neck: Ends Up in Hanging Self

AUBURN, Calif., July 29.—The neighbors kept telling H. W. Flower, 70, that it was dangerous for him to experiment with neck-stretching exercises.

Flower was found dead, hanging from a tree by a small rope attached to a strap about his neck.

Sheriff Charles Silva said pamphlets telling about neck-stretching exercises were found yesterday near his body. He evidently had been trying them, seated on a saw-horse.

SPAN WRECKED BY STORM IS REBUILT

Vehicular traffic is again moving over Route 7 in the vicinity of Rogers following the construction of a temporary bridge to replace the one which was destroyed by flood waters during a severe rain-storm July 18.

The temporary structure was erected as rapidly as possible, it was pointed out by E. R. McCullough of New Philadelphia, division engineer for the state highway department.

Columbiana Opens Red Cross Bureau

COLUMBIANA, July 29.—Red Cross volunteer workers are requested to meet with Mrs. Coggs-well and Mrs. F. C. George of East Palestine at the Park hotel, Columbiana, Friday afternoon between 2 and 4 o'clock, at which time a Red Cross headquarters will be opened here. This additional service is required owing to the demand for women's and children's garments.

A drive for aluminum is being held today in Columbiana in charge of Mayor Arthur Myers, assisted by Scout Commissioner C. F. Coppock, Boy Scouts and volunteer workers.

Miss Ruth Henry, for the past seven years employed in the office of the Koch Motor Co., has accepted a position in the bookkeeping department of the Peoples Savings & Loan Co., Leetonia.

The King's Daughters' class of Grace Reformed church will hold a picnic at Firestone park at 6:30 p. m. Thursday.

The Queen Esther class of Grace church met Friday evening at the church with Mesdames W. R. Gobrecht, Roy Kerr, M. C. Berryman and Vernon Haas as hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Lauren Myers and daughter, Ellen, spent several days recently in New York City. They also visited Private Maurice Lehman, Fort Monmouth, N. J., and Lieut. Biersly, Fort Dix, N. J.

One of the best musicals to come out of the film capital in many a season is "Sunny", starring Anna Neagle, singing-dancing English actress, with Ray Bolger, John Carroll, Edward Everett Horton and Helen Westley. The film shows Wednesday and Thursday at the State.

Music by Jerome Kern is highlighted in the picture which is based on the successful stage musical comedy which starred the late Marilyn Miller a few years ago. The story, laid against the colorful background of New Orleans during the Mardi Gras season, is the turbulent and delightful romance of a dancer with a traveling carnival company and the scion of one of the city's most powerful families.

Concluding tonight at the State is "Barnacle Bill", featuring Wallace Beery, Marjorie Main, Virginia Weidler and Donald Meek, with Barton MacLane, Sara Haden and Leo Carrillo.

Wednesday's double bill at the Grand will include: A James Cagney hit, "Great Guy", featuring Mae Clark and Douglas MacLean, showing for the first time in Salem; and "Law of the Wolf", with Dennis Moore, Luana Patten, Martin Spellman and Bobby Gordon, and Rin Tin Tin, grandson of the first dog star, Rin Tin Tin.

Can you Goose-Step?

With a little PRACTICE nearly anyone can go through all the motions of being the slave of a "Super State."

Just relax. Just say: "Oh, why should I worry about how the country is run or who runs it?" Just do as you're told. Don't bother about your freedom or your rights.

You'll be goose-stepping in no time!

Strange as it may seem to the goose-steppers, AMERICANS decided, on the FIRST 4th of July, that they'd RATHER worry a little than to be made into wooden FOLLOWERS.

"We'll try governing ourselves," said these Americans. "Of course, we will have to know all the time what's going on and have to do some THINKING for ourselves. But, if the price of FREEDOM is so reasonable, we will have a try at it!"

"But wait a minute. This wandering around LISTENING to this or that opinion wastes a lot of time. How about offering some enterprising fellow a few cents to go everywhere, report everything EVERY DAY?" So these free Americans reasoned.

Right! NEWSPAPERS were the answer! Not the GOVERNMENT'S newspapers, though—the PEOPLE'S newspapers. Never mind if the EDITOR is a "fearless fire eater." Never mind how many OPINIONS he has, so long as he reports the FACTS—and we, the people, are free to make up our own minds from the NEWS.

Now if we stopped HERE we still wouldn't have FREEDOM. A man who knows all about how to govern himself but doesn't know how and where to turn his money into good VALUE is only HALF free.

That's an EASY one to solve. We let all the makers and sellers of goods report what THEY have to offer—right in the same newspaper. Call it ADVERTISING. To the free citizen it is a daily catalogue of the best bargains, the NEWS of new and useful things, the daily guide to the most for his money.

The world calls us "lucky," in America. Maybe we are. But there's quite a little HORSE SENSE in the system. It lets an AMERICAN sit in his easy chair with his shoes off while public servants and storekeepers seek him out to please him.

And even if we sometimes choose WRONG, we Americans still prefer to do without the kind of "leaders" who could teach us to goose-step past a balcony.

Today 320 newspaper publishers are telling this story in over 10 million homes. Newspaper Publishers Committee, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York.

Recreation Wins Second Round As Zines Hurls 7-0 Shutout

SWOC COLLECTS JUST TWO HITS IN CRUCIAL GAME

Zines Retires Opponents In Order, In All But One Inning

It was Johnny Zines all the way as the Recreation shut out the SWOC last night, 7-0, to win the second round Class A championship. Zines, shooting his fast ball across the plate, retired the side in order in every inning but the third, where he allowed two safe singles.

The ace Recreation hurler was so stingy with his hits that Recreation outfielders spent a comparatively quiet evening. Jim Primm of the Recreation turned in the fielding gem of the evening, a long, running catch of a hard-hit fly ball.

In addition to their good defensive play, the Recreation uncorked a batting attack that brought a run in every inning except, again, the third. Sparking the attack were doubles by Sanders, Myers, and Kelley. Kelley's double turned into a home run when his long bouncing grounder

Joe Kelley announced today that the third round of Salem city softball will begin Tuesday evening. There will be no games tonight or tomorrow night, except those in the church league.

The new schedule will be published in The Salem News tomorrow.

Zines struck out five men without issuing a single walk in the game, while Wright fanned six men but complicated matters by issuing eight bases on balls.

In the second scheduled game the Saxons forfeited to Driscoll-wood.

Church League
Doubles by McGhee and Whitehill led the Presbyterian attack as they nosed out the YPCO 6-5 last night. L. Fain and Wells batted out a triple and a double for the losers but failed to overcome a three-run attack by the Presbyterians in the fifth inning.

In the second game the Christians walloped the St. Paul team 6-1 as they turned in an errorless game. Waggoner allowed St. Paul but three hits in the seven inning contest.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, July 29.—(The Special News Service)—Tip: Connie Mack, who came up with one of the year's prize rookies in Third-Baseman Pete Suder, really will make their eyes pop with the youngsters he brings up from the farm in 1942.

Laundry proprietor J. Donald Budge has transferred his draft registration from an Oakland (Calif.) board to one in Manhattan. Larry MacPhail, after being at a fishing camp in the Canadian woods, had Dodger Secretary John MacDonal on the phone an hour and a quarter telling him everything that had happened to the Brooks while he was away.

Walter St. Denis and Mike Jacobs, who rowed about a year ago, have kissed and made up. Walter probably will go back as publicity major-domo of Joe Louis' camp for the Nova bout, while Jack Miley will do the tub-thumping for Lou Nova, by the way, writes to Manager Ray Carlen that he wants to stay up in the Maine woods until Aug. 10, and Carlen, just back from Florida, promptly went to bed with a heavy cold.

Today's Guest Star
Dick Williams, Seattle Times: "Headline—'100,000 reserves at Moscow'—looks like a big year for Idaho's new coach, Francis Schmidt. If he can keep Pacific Coast Conference Czar Althoff from finding out about it."

From Here and There
We hear the only colt from Seabuilt's first get broke a leg and had to be destroyed a few days ago at Charley Howard's California farm. That Sunday doubleheader in Pittsburgh was hard labor for all the Dodgers but one—Catcher Herman Franks, who beated on a decision in the first inning of the first game and promptly was bounced.

One Minute Interview
Private Hugh Mulcahy, Camp Edwards, Mass.: "Even life with the Phillies was easier. But I can't complain. I've thought the whole thing over many times, and I've come to this conclusion. Every man owes his country a year."

Mike Jacobs' hopes of signing Booker Beckwith, Chicago, K. O. artist, have gone a-flaming. The Negro heavy is tied up with Billy Rand, Chicago promoter, for five years. Neville Dunn, former Lexington (Ky.) sports ed, is doing an extra-special fine job as new boss of 'The Thoroughbred Record'.

And has anyone pointed out that maybe Al Sheikhamer made his move on Whirlaway too soon in the Arlington classic? Or is the chart lying?

INDIANS SET FOR EASTERN INVASION
Tribe Will Attempt To Better One Out of Six Wins Last Time

WASHINGTON, July 29.—The Indians today opened the second half of their eastern invasion with high hopes that it would prove more successful than the first six contests, which produced only one victory.

Washington provides the opposition for three days, with a trio of weekend games in Philadelphia winding up the seaboard tour.

Manager Roger Peckinpaugh was undecided between Southpaw Al Smith and Al Milnar for the inaugural Portside Ken Chase, who usually bothers the Indians, was due to hurl for the Senators.

Bob Feller will pitch tomorrow night, with Harry Eisenstat or Jim Bagby taking the mound in the finale.

Hal Trosky's first-inning home run with the bases full featured Cleveland's 7 to 6 victory over Portsmouth, Va., of the Piedmont league in an exhibition yesterday.

Ken Jungles twirled seven innings and gave up all the runs. Bagby and Eisenstat worked an inning apiece.

Cleveland Netter Advances
LAKESIDE, July 29.—Edward Dilone of Cleveland entered the third round of the Northern Ohio Senior Tennis championship singles today by virtue of his 7-5, 6-2 defeat of W. C. Gill of Canton in first round matches yesterday. Ed Oehlshlaeger of Cleveland defeated C. M. Bricker of Sylvania, 6-2, 6-3, and Wynn Rogers of Redlands, Calif., beat Robert Scully of Wayne, 6-2, 6-4.

Nelson Wins Toledo Open
TOLEDO, July 29.—Byron Nelson, Ohio Open champion and former National Open and P. G. A. king, added his second straight Toledo Open golf title to his list of conquests today. Nelson slugged out a three-under-par final round of 68 yesterday to defeat Frankie Stranahan who finished six strokes behind Nelson's 129 for the 36-hole route.

Heavyweight Wins
BALTIMORE, July 29.—In an unimpressive performance, Buddy Walker, 197-pound Columbus, O., battler, punched out a 10-round decision over Johnny Kapovich, 195, of Baltimore last night. Walker failed to show the snap and precision, however, which marked his four previous victories here.

DODGERS INVADE ST. LOUIS; START CRUCIAL SERIES

Wobbly Brooks Will Try To Bolster Their Standing

By BILL BONI

Associated Press Sports Writer

Wobbling on both their hitting and their pitching legs, the Brooklyn Dodgers moved into St. Louis today for what may be the "make or break" series of their National league pennant aspirations.

Just two weeks ago these Dodgers were in first place, enjoying a four-game margin over the Cardinals. Then the hard-running, hard-hitting, ever-scraping Redbirds moved into Ebbets field, beat the Brooks in both contests of a short series, and started them on a toboggan slide that has them two lengths back of the Cards.

The source of this present Dodger dilemma seems to be a combination of things, including pitchers who haven't been able to hold leads, hitters who haven't given those pitchers any big leads to hold, and, apparently, lack of sufficient youth such as is sparking the Cardinals and the oncoming Pittsburgh Pirates.

Luke Hamlin was expected to get the call for today's encounter with the Cards, first of two, against Lon Warneke or Max Lanier. For the second game it likely will be Kirby Elgie, who already has worked in four of the seven contests on Brooklyn's current western trip.

Durocher May Go In
So deep is the present Dodger despair that Manager Leo Durocher, at last report, even was considering taking the step he'd vowed he wouldn't—putting himself back into the lineup in place of Pee Wee Reese at shortstop.

Yesterday's major league holiday, in addition to giving time to study the Brooklyn plight, also gave the statisticians a chance to collect some new figures on the New York Yankees. These latest are attendance figures, which show that in 41 home dates the American league leaders have averaged 19,569 paid admissions.

The Yanks resumed their home stand today against the Detroit Tigers, with Atley Donald and Hal Newhouse the likely pitching rivals. For the rest of the American league the lineup was Cleveland at Washington (Smith against Zuber), Chicago at Philadelphia (Ross against Beckman or Harris) and St. Louis at Boston (Auker against Harris).

In the National league it was Boston at Pittsburgh (Javery against Sullivan), New York at Cincinnati (Schumacher against Riddle), and Philadelphia at Chicago (Pearson against Lee).

FIRST DIVISION HOPE

By Jack Sords

REDS AND GIANTS WILL PLAY THREE

Riddle Will Pitch Today; Giants Have Slipped Badly In Month

CINCINNATI, July 29.—Fighting to stay in the torrid three-club battle for a first division spot in the National league, the New York Giants open a three-game series with the Cincinnati Reds today.

The Giants began the month in third place six games in front of the fifth place Pittsburgh Pirates and are ending July in fifth place, two games behind the Pirates and Reds.

Elmer Riddle, whom the Giants hit but couldn't beat twice previously, was down to make a fresh start after last Wednesday's defeat by the Brooklyn Dodgers snapped his sensational victory string at 11.

Hal Schumacher was Manager Bill Terry's probable hurler.

The upcoming three-game series is highly important to both the Reds and Giants.

The Giants played only .500 percentage ball in the last eight weeks, and the fact they've seen hobnobbing with the league's first division clubs has been due in no small measure to winning eight of their first 10 games of the season. Now that the season is 60 per cent gone, that red-hot start can't continue to hold them up, and they know it.

The Redlegs, who have beaten the Giants in seven of a dozen meetings, have in the series an opportunity to narrow the wide breach which is separating them from the Dodgers and Cards; for St. Louis and Brooklyn bump into each other for a pair of games.

CONSERVATIONISTS LIST FISHING 'DON'T'S'

Here are a few "don't's" suggested by the Ohio Conservation division, which, if obeyed, will make the fisherman's life a happier one and the game protector's lot less difficult.

Don't take over 20 catfish, yellow perch, white bass, crappies, rock bass, or bluegill in one day. Don't take over six bass, six trout, or six walleyes in one day. Don't have over 100 minnows in possession at one time. And don't fail to have your fishing badge pinned on you where it can be seen and your license in your pocket whenever you wet a line.

Anglers should remember not to take over 25 fish in any one day, or have over 90 fish in possession at one time after the first day.

Wood, Ghezzi Battle On Mahoning Course

YOUNGSTOWN, July 29.—Craig Wood, National Open golf champion, and Vic Ghezzi, P. G. A. titleholder, will battle over the rolling terrain of the Mahoning Country club at nearby Girard for the unofficial world's championship on Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 2-3.

The duel, one of the first of its kind ever staged, will be a match play event over 72 holes with $2,500 as the stake—offered by Owner Peter Wellman on a winner-take-all basis. Originally slated as medal play, it was changed to match play at the insistence of Wood, Ghezzi, a master at match play, readily agreed to such an arrangement.

Thirty-six holes are billed on Saturday and the final 36 on Sunday, with the morning round starting at 10 a. m. each day and the afternoon round at 2:30 p. m.

Fred Corcoran, tournament manager of the P. G. A., who helped make the arrangements for the first annual $5,000 Mahoning Valley Open held on the same layout in June, will be on hand for the match play event, which he termed "one of the outstanding golfing affairs of the year."

LACK OF WATER IS CHIEF NAZI WORRY

we cannot wash ourselves tonight. Wash? Why for heaven's sake, we haven't the faintest intention of washing, there isn't water for that. All we want is to just dip our hands once, just to cool our burned brows and necks a bit.

This morning we were to drive through the city of "M" (obviously Minsk). We figured it out: there must be so and so many hydrants, for drinking, for cooking, for washing, for filling our field flasks.

When we reached "M" we didn't come to "M" for it is something that doesn't exist any more and you can't come to it. "M" was nothing but a bit of smoldering landscape! The fleeing Soviet had with his artillery shot "M" into the ground and burned it down completely.

Back home in our German garrisons a field flask full of water isn't worth a straw. There it merely weighs down the belt from which so many other things are already hanging.

But a field flask with drinking water, tea or coffee today in the east is worth more than anything that can happen to you.

That comrade begs as though he wanted to borrow 100 marks from you. Or he offers you other luxuries in exchange, a whole frying pan full of butter, one dozen eggs, 100 cigarettes—whatever he just happens to have.

The loveliest vehicles in this war are those from whose tops protrude little stovepipes—the field kitchens. Not on account of the pork roast which they offer you, and not on account of the pea soup, but solely on account of their tea. Whether the field kitchens are standing or moving they are always surrounded.

Yesterday, for the first time in a long while, I was privileged really to wash and shave myself. It was a veritable dissipation I indulged in with that water. Why, I had two whole drinking cups full of water for it!

Rotarians Await Gov. Luhman's Visit

COLUMBIANA, July 29.—President Preston Corey of the Rotary club presided at a short business meeting following dinner at Valley Golf club Monday evening. Corey named C. B. Riggall and Al Wells as an auditing committee. Announcement was made that the district governor, Rev. Roland Luhman of Youngstown, will visit the club Aug. 18.

H. W. McGrath has resumed his duties with the Northeast Ohio Poultry association after a two weeks' vacation spent with his father, Rev. C. S. McGrath, in Wooster, and relatives at Columbus.

Misses Mary Dell Chain and Helen Gleeton have returned from Wooster, where they attended a week's conference at Wooster college as delegates from the local Presbyterian church. Miss Miriam Esterly, the other delegate, has gone on to Columbus, where she will spend two weeks visiting.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Loveloy announce the birth of a daughter at the Salem City hospital. Mrs. Loveloy was the former Miss Ruth Eyster.

Mayor Arthur Myers and C. F. Coppock, heading a committee assisted by Boy Scouts and Street Commissioner Walter Thomas, spent Monday collecting aluminum for national defense needs. The town's three trucks were used to haul the donated aluminum and it was then placed in the town garage, to be sorted later and taken to Youngstown. A large truckload was secured.

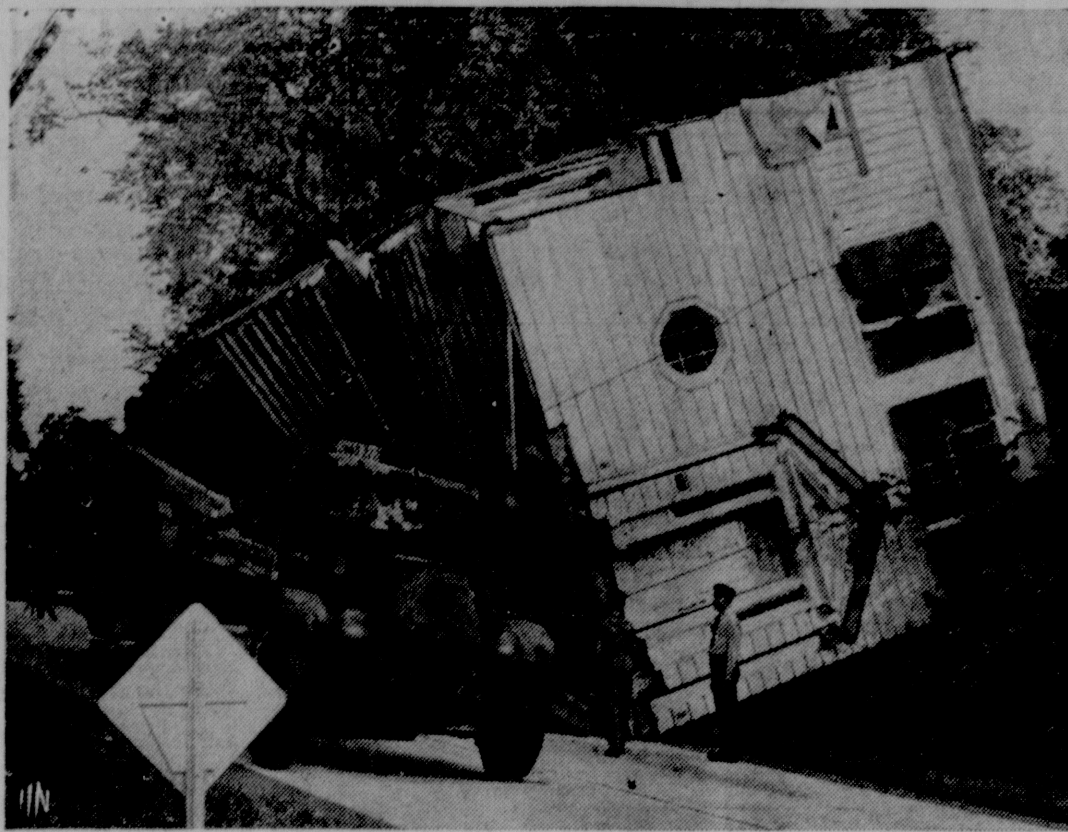

Mr. and Mrs. Mahlan Chew of Cleveland called on local relatives Sunday while enjoying a vacation in this locality.

The 37th annual reunion of the Tullis family will be held at Firestone park Sunday, Aug. 3, with a basket picnic dinner at noon. O. C. Tullis of Alliance is the president and Mrs. Oliver Greenamyer of Salem is the secretary. Mrs. Ira Tullis of Columbiana is chairman of the sports committee.

Tax Bonus

WILMINGTON, Del.—Early taxpayers are getting an extra dividend. The city added a cold bottle of soda pop in addition to the usual five per cent abatement for paying in July. Hot weather is making the drink as attractive as the discount.

Model Home Taken for a Ride

A demonstration model home lies on its side only a block from its destination after sliding off a trailer truck on a curve in White Plains, N. Y. The house was being moved in three parts, one section already having been successfully moved.

CRIPPLED TO HOLD OUTING ON AUG. 10

The eighth annual basket picnic for persons wearing one or two artificial limbs, and their families, will be held Sunday, Aug. 10, at Dunn-Eden lake.

There will be all sorts of sports such as foot races, walking contests, bicycle races, motor scooter races, horseshoe and tennis games, engaged in by the limb wearers. A baseball game by limb wearers exclusively is an outstanding feature. There will be boating and other special features for the women and children.

Last year 800 people from Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Maryland, New Jersey, Indiana, and several coming from New York City attended this outing. A thousand or more are expected to attend this year. All limb wearers and their families are invited.

Schools to Open Sept. 2. Supt. Roberts Announces

The calendar for the school year as prepared by Supt. Roberts lists the following vacations beginning with dismissal for the county fair Sept. 12; N. E. O. T. A convention, Oct. 24; Armistice day, Nov. 11; Thanksgiving, Nov. 27 to 30; Christmas, Dec. 24 to Jan. 4; and the closing of schools on May 22. Semester examinations will be held Jan. 15-16 with the second semester beginning Jan. 19.

Religious Group Buys Sebring Camp Grounds

SEBRING, July 29.—The Chicago Evangelical institute today became the owner of 18 acres of woodland that for 37 years has been used as the Sebring camp ground.

When George E. Sebring, one of the brothers who founded the village which bears the family name, set aside the tract "as a place for the spread of Scripture Holiness," no deed exchanged hands. Announcement of formal transfer of deed took place at the closing session of this year's camp services last night.

The Chicago institute is an evangelistic college and will maintain the tradition of the camp ground.

PLAN HOME GUARD TO PROTECT AIR

COLUMBUS, July 29.—A civilian home guard of the air, intended to protect Ohio airports and other flying facilities, will be formed from the state's 1,610 licensed pilots, aeronautics Director Earle L. Johnson said today.

The unit will be known as the civil air defense, Johnson said. "Aviation mechanics, radio operators and airport personnel will be included in the close-knit organization to supplement home guard activities and cooperate with military aviation," he declared.

Tentative plans call for the registration, fingerprinting, photographing and checking of birth records of all pilots, setting up of air defense units at the state's 109 airports, and cross-country flight training to enable flyers to become familiar with their home terrain.
